

LEADERSHIP & RELEVANCE

Leeum Museum of Art

Wolff Olins · 2022 · Kinetic

A reopening with a new mandate: become a space of convergence, not a prestige object observed from a distance.

Representation would produce exactly the static mark the mandate moved away from. The identity had to perform convergence, not depict it.

The name, held in motion.

‘Leeum’ in severely distorted variable type forms a hypnotic half-crescent. At a glance, an abstract object; with attention, the letterforms. In motion it mimics a rolling tube, a shifting beacon, a colliding system of lines.

A mark that behaves like its idea is harder to forget than one that only points at it.

Hold the mark in motion and it behaves like the convergence the museum promises.

13k → 20k

monthly visitors, before and after the rebrand.

Agency-reported (Wolff Olins),
not independently audited.

Brand is behavior, not image.

Nine landmark cultural rebrands, read by what forced the decision. Not by how they look. By what they do.

nicoleminoza.com/the-behavioral-brand